

Personal Travel Coverage

Many students pursue supplemental personal travel while abroad outside of the official study abroad program. While the OSU policy includes up to 14 days of personal deviation travel outside the official study abroad program, if you plan to conduct personal travel outside the scope of your official study abroad program or intend to engage in activities outside of OSU's insurance policy while abroad, OSU strongly encourages you to purchase your own personal travel insurance if you wish to have coverage during those trips.

While OSU does not endorse or require any supplemental, personal travel insurance beyond the OSU mandatory coverage, students in the past have used these providers for personal travel not covered in OSU's policy.
